

Mark is up and about again after the motorcycle accident and surgery. He is able to get outside and be a part of everything again.

The community activity area, Subangan, is blessed with fun ideas that use ordinary free things like this driftwood that we made into a shark airplane.

We were blessed to have Todd Zalk (Rachel's father) visit and be a part of all that we do. He did bible studies with Olaf the puppet and Naneth, helped fishermen, delivered bibles in the mountains, preached, taught and blessed us all in many ways.

Creativity is often a part of our lifestyle here. We are constantly adapting to new situations and coming up with plan L, M, N, or O sometimes. Between our house shifting and needing realignment of our doors, locks, and windows, and the salt air reeking havoc to all electronics and metal, we have soon discovered our extended Filipino family is just as creative. We came home to find that one of our children had "fixed" the rice cooker. (By the way, we bought a new one.)

Rachel Zalk has been here 3 times now and has now officially become part of the family. Her big heart and excitement for God has changed our lives and the lives of those around us. Because of the hard work of her family, and church body that has sent her, lasting changes have been established. Her life is proof that one life can make a difference. We thank God for the work He has done in her and through her.

Patti's love literally holds us together. Here she is with three of our girls that Bekah is growing up and she is taking her kids with her. She graduated with honors and is still running her Girl's club and teaching at the church. Along with her talents of dance, singing, and acting, the translation that she does for us makes us able to do anything at anytime. We really do not know what we would do without her.

live in our house. Alexandra, Annamae's daughter is running around everywhere and doing well. Naneth and Tonette are doing well and have started teaching bible classes on their own to the little kids in the neighborhood like there big sister Bekah. Patti holds that together, plus the clinic, bible studies, and much much more.
